Personal Wellbeing Initiative

Supporting Independence * Enhancing Safety * Providing Peace of Mind

What is the Personal Wellbeing Initiative?

You spoke. We listened! Persons with dementia want to be independent, age in place and stay safe while enjoying freedom of movement, privacy and dignity. Caregivers and families want the ability to utilize technologies to empower them and their loved one with dementia – including tools to enable lifestyle management such as balancing elder care, parenting and work while reducing the stress and worry of their caring role offering much welcome peace of mind. The Personal Wellbeing Initiative provides guidance to make an educated decision on which of the available products/services (smart home, GPS, Cellular, radio frequency or traditional) is most appropriate for each unique situation.

How does it work?

The Personal Wellbeing Initiative is a function of the We Rage We Weep Alzheimer Foundation. The Foundation will provide consultation, education, orientation and support to individuals, families, groups, businesses or public service agencies interested in any of the products/services under the initiative. A portion of the proceeds of the sales of technologies may go towards funding the above community supports as well as growing a pool of subsidized devices for financially disadvantaged persons with dementia, their caregivers and families.
